

INSOMNIAC Kiosk Now Available for Sentinel Facilities

Sentinel Systems Newest Addition to OpenTech Alliance Partner Program

SCOTTSDALE, Arizona – January 17, 2006 – OpenTech Alliance, Inc. announced today that INSOMNIAC™, the self-storage kiosk, is now available for facilities running Sentinel WinSen™ Property Manager software. The company also announced that Sentinel Systems Corporation is the latest addition to its Alliance Partner Program. The powerful combination of INSOMNIAC and Sentinel's WinSen™ Property Manager product line means facilities can now take rentals and payments regardless of whether a manager is present.

“We're pleased to announce INSOMNIAC is now available for Sentinel facilities,” said Jon D. Reddick, Vice President of Sentinel. “We've been watching the kiosk landscape unfold over the last few years and believe INSOMNIAC is the definitive self-storage kiosk leader. We know the thousands of self-storage owners who manage their facilities using Sentinel will appreciate having this great self-service option.”

“Sentinel has been a self-storage leader for over 30 years,” said Robert Chiti, OpenTech's CEO. “With their global reach, long history of innovation, and huge customer base, we're frequently asked by customers to interface to WinSen™. Today, we're proud to announce our partnership and the availability of INSOMNIAC for Sentinel facilities.”

Sentinel has been a leader in property management software, security access systems and individual door alarms since 1975. It markets its signature WinSen™ Property Manager Software, WinSen™ Property Sentinel access control and individual door alarms, site graphics, Map-Point, Home Office, I.D. scanners, card readers, and their newest security product – the 3200i Keypad System. Sentinel products are used around the world in over 12 countries.

INSOMNIAC is an integrated self-service kiosk designed specifically for the self-storage industry. The kiosk allows tenants to rent a unit, make a payment, update their account information, purchase tenant insurance, buy locks, view a video presentation about the facility and much more. Because Sentinel's WinSen™ Property Manager and INSOMNIAC are linked in real-time, account balances and inventory are updated instantaneously, ensuring accurate financial and operational reporting.
