Storage Masters Installs INSOMNIAC Kiosk in St. Louis

Firm Benefits from INSOMNIAC 500's Compact Design and Robust Features

PHOENIX, Arizona – November 3, 2006 – OpenTech Alliance, Inc., announced today that Storage Masters' Chesterfield location is the first facility in the St. Louis area to install its INSOMNIAC™ 500 self-storage kiosk. The INSOMNIAC 500 packs a powerful punch, with the ability to sell new rentals, take rental payments and dispense locks, housed in a compact 24" x 32" package. Installed right next to the office door, the kiosk now offers Storage Masters' tenants the speed and convenience of 24 hour self-service.

Storage Master's new INSOMNIAC 500 kiosk

"No one wants to turn business away," said Storage Masters' owner, John Burrows. "Now when people call after office hours, our call center explains they can make a rental 24 hours a day at our kiosk. Tenants who like to pay cash especially find the kiosk convenient because it gives them a receipt even when the office is closed."

Mr. Burrows has been in the self-storage business for 21 years. He continued, "We chose the INSOMNIAC 500 because we were looking for a self-service solution that could fit outside our existing office and be serviced from the front. It's working so well we are considering installing kiosks at our other facilities and even building new properties that might not have been as financially feasible without the help of a kiosk."

Storage Masters currently has seven facilities in Saint Louis, Orlando, Denver and Plano, and several others in construction. Most properties provide a free move-in truck rental, free disk lock, and require no administrative fee or deposit. The facility with the kiosk is located at 16824 Chesterfield Airport Road in Chesterfield, Missouri.
